

Derek Scissors
Senior Fellow, American Enterprise Institute

Derek Scissors is a senior fellow at the American Enterprise Institute (AEI), where he focuses on the Chinese and Indian economies and on U.S. economic relations with Asia. He is concurrently the chief economist of the China Beige Book.

Dr. Scissors is the author of the China Global Investment Tracker. Since 2008, in a series of papers, he has been chronicling the end of pro-market reforms in China and the resulting slide toward economic stagnation. He has also written multiple papers on the best course for Indian economic development.

Before joining AEI, Dr. Scissors was a senior research fellow in the Asian Studies Center at the Heritage Foundation and an adjunct professor of economics at George Washington University. He has worked for London-based Intelligence Research Ltd., taught economics at Lingnan University in Hong Kong, and served as an action officer in international economics and energy for the U.S. Department of Defense. He also served as a commissioner on the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission.

Dr. Scissors has a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan, a master's degree from the University of Chicago, and a doctorate from Stanford University.

Dr. Scissors previously testified before the Commission at the January 2020 hearing on "China's Quest for Capital: Motivations, Methods, and Implications," May 2013 hearing on "Trends and Implications of Chinese Investment in the United States," and February 2012 hearing on "Chinese State-Owned and State-Controlled Enterprises."
